Demonstrated Skills

Communication Skills

I excel in conveying information with clarity and precision, both verbally and in writing. This proficiency allows me to articulate ideas effectively, actively listen, and adapt my message to cater to different audiences. My strong communication skills enable me to facilitate productive interactions, be it in collaborative team settings, client meetings, or when presenting intricate concepts to non-technical stakeholders.

Teamwork Skills

I possess a keen ability to collaborate seamlessly with others towards a shared objective. I actively contribute ideas, engage in discussions, and provide support to fellow team members. Additionally, I value diverse perspectives, am adept at conflict resolution, and leverage individual strengths to elevate overall team performance.

Problem Solving and Analytical Skills

I am adept at identifying, evaluating, and devising solutions for intricate challenges. This involves employing logical thinking, conducting thorough data analysis, and applying critical reasoning to deconstruct problems into manageable components. My proficiency in problem-solving extends to the evaluation of multiple solutions, enabling me to choose the most effective one based on available information and resources. Moreover, I approach failures as learning opportunities, allowing me to iterate on solutions for continuous improvement.

Volunteer Experience

- Volunteer at a stray animal shelter in Chongqing and assisted in organizing resource mobilization and donation activities.
- Volunteer to teach English for rural aera children in China.

Interests and Activities

Aviation Exploration

My passion for the aviation industry drives me to delve into the study of aviation technology and aerospace engineering. I enjoy reading books and articles on flight principles, flight simulation, and the development of the aviation industry. Additionally, I actively participate in various aerospace exhibitions and seminars to stay updated on the latest industry trends.

Outdoor Photography and Adventure Travel

I have a keen interest in outdoor photography, capturing the beauty of nature and the essence of human culture through the lens. I love exploring new places during adventure travels, interacting with different cultures, and documenting unforgettable moments. This hobby hones my observational skills and creativity, while fostering adaptability in challenging and unfamiliar environments.
